PROFILE

As a motivated and ambitious third-year Computer Engineering student, I have a genuine passion for my field and I am fully committed to continuously improving my skills and knowledge. I am highly motivated to expand my knowledge base, and I am enthusiastic about acquiring new skills, including learning new programming languages. Over the past year, I have dedicated myself to studying web development and have gained a solid understanding of various web technologies, particularly JavaScript, Node, React, and Mongo. I have successfully built several projects from scratch, showcasing my skills in web development.
